

Stupid “K”

Numbers and letters are beautiful artistic forms on their own merit, but we have difficulty seeing them as anything but what they truly mean. We often don't see the beauty in the form. Only after turning the letters inside and out, or flipping the numbers over, can we truly appreciate their design.

Your task today is to do just that.

This will be easiest on the computer, but can be done on paper as well.

Type or write your full name.

Your task is to re-create your full name using letters and numbers.

The only rule is that you cannot use the actual letter. So if your name starts with an S, you can use any form of any other letter or number, backwards or forwards, upside down or right side up-except an actual S.

Two 2s, however, can make an “S”
